NEWS SERVICE FOR NORMAL PLANNED

Press Club of Normal School
Hopes to Interest Other Normals.

A WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

Club Also Considers Plan to Furnish
News to Various Papers of the State.

A normal-school news service, designed to give the student bodies of all three normal schools of Washington a better understanding of the work of the teacher-training institutions of the state, is being considered by the Press club. The State Normal school at Bellingham and the State Normal school at Ellensburg have been invited to cooperate in the plan. An identical letter has been mailed to the editor of Student Opinion, publication of the student body at Ellensburg, and to The Weekly Messenger, publication of the student body at Bellingham. The letter, signed by Florence Wendler, editor of the Journal, follows:

"It is the belief of the Press club of the State Normal School at Cheney that it would be to the interest of all of the normal schools of the state to build up a normal-school news service, and with that end in view we are addressing this communication to you and a like communication to the editor of the newspaper of the other normal school. We realize that it would be impracticable to attempt a wire service, but it appears to us that a well-digested weekly news-letter sent from one normal school to the other two normal schools would serve a very useful purpose. As the newspapers in no way overlap, the letter to each school could be identical, and the work involved would be curtailed. "Some time undoubtedly will be required to work out the details of the plan, and perhaps it could not be put into operation before the opening of the fall quarter. However, if you are interested, will you kindly communicate with us at the earliest practicable date?"

"The time for mailing the letter, the nature of the contents and the length will, of course, be determined by the size and nature of the various school newspapers. These are matters which can be worked out after the general plan has been agreed upon."

Another matter which the Press club will consider soon is the advisability of individual members acting as correspondents for the newspapers in the various communities from which they have come. The purpose of this plan will be two-fold: To give the members of the club practical experience in newspaper reporting and to furnish newspapers of Eastern Washington accurate information concerning the work of the Normal school.

SELECT ANNOUNCEMENTS

August Graduating Class Making
Preparations for Commencement Exercises.

Cards and announcements for the Senior A class were chosen at a meeting Monday.

Members of the class are asked to turn in their orders to either Olive Foley, William Olney or Hildred McConnell, the committee in charge. All orders will be ready August 1, provided the list is sent immediately. This will give the graduates two weeks in which to mail the announcements.

Plunge Is Completed

Work on the Normal Plunge will be completed this week and swimming classes will start next Monday. Only those girls who are enrolled in the swimming classes will be allowed to use the plunge, as the boys will have the use of it the remaining part of the day.

PRESIDENT WARREN G. HARDING

While hundreds of students and citizens of Cheney listened attentively, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, told of his faith in education as a bulwark of representative democracy at the O-W. station late Monday night. The presidential train passed through Cheney about 11:30, and the president spoke from the rear platform of his car.

President Harding mentioned his brief teaching experience of more than 20 years ago, recounted briefly the great progress made along educational lines and expressed a belief that the teaching profession offers unusual opportunities for service in developing the right type of American citizenship.

The president gave comparative statistics to show that Americans spend more for luxuries than for education, and in this connection made slight reference to the "dry" position which he has taken. Recalling that we once spent more for liquor than for education, President Harding declared that we have now abolished it and asked for support of the constitution in seeing that it remains abolished.

After concluding his talk and expressing his appreciation of the interest of the people of Cheney in his welfare, President Harding introduced some of the members of the presidential party, namely, Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and Frederick H. Gillette of Massachusetts, speaker of the house of representatives. Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, is also a member of the presidential party, but last Monday night, to quote the president, "Like all good people, he was in bed."

EIGHT STUDENTS THRICE HONORED

Sixty Were on Honor Roll for Spring
Quarter.—Eleven Honor Students
Two Quarters.

Eight students of the Normal school have been on the honor roll for three consecutive quarters and 11 have been honor students for two consecutive quarters, according to data compiled since the announcement of the spring quarter honor roll. Four who were on the honor roll for the fall quarter were again on it this spring.

Sixty students out of an enrollment of virtually 600 made grades high enough to be called "honor students" for the spring quarter.

Those who have been honor students for three quarters are:

Walter Beaughan
Villa Brock
Mrs. Eva Camp
Isabel Clawson
Jessie Duff
Ray Hubbard
Robert Hungate
Amelia Thom

Honor students for the two consecutive quarters:

Amee Berry
Florence Brown
Helen Buchanan
James Carlyle
Mrs. Virginia Greer
Ruth Horn
Josephine Hough
Glen Jones
Mae Kernan
Omer Pence
Ted Smith

Students who made the honor roll the fall and spring quarters:

Verna Betz
Hazel Carlisle
Gladys Clayton
Louise Fairman

EIGHTEEN HAVE BEEN HELPED BY THE LOAN FUND

Eighteen students have been helped this summer by sums of money from the student loan fund, according to H. N. Stronach. So far it has not been necessary to refuse loans to anyone because of lack of money. Fifty dollars is the largest sum that is issued to anyone.

WILL MAKE THE ARROW DIFFERENT

Entire Set of Cuts Being Made
Especially for the Senior Publication.

GROUPING PLAN FOR SENIORS TO BE NEW

Nearly Everybody in School, It Is Believed, Will "Have His Picture" in "The Arrow."

"Something different" is the aim of the staff of "The Arrow," the book which is being published under the auspices of the Senior A class this summer. With possibly one exception, every cut in the book—and there will be one on nearly every page—will be new, made especially for the occasion. Class groups, campus views, snapshots and organization groups will predominate. There will be a full page cut of Sutton Hall and also a full page cut of the campus. A full page will be devoted to Miss Vera Thornley, attired in the Indian costume of Sacajawea.

Prints for the engraver were sent to Spokane Tuesday night, and assurance has been given that the cuts will be ready for the printer by July 16. Unless something unforeseen occurs, it is believed that the books will be ready for distribution on August 6.

Many Senior Cuts

More than 90 members of the Senior A class have submitted photographs, and an entirely new plan of grouping is being worked out. This plan, it is believed, will not only add novelty to the book, but will conserve space and make room for the proper representation of other activities.

No advertising has been solicited, but one page will be devoted to a directory of the business firms of Cheney that paid double subscriptions.

With every class save the junior class represented with a cut, and with virtually every bona fide organization of the Normal school represented in like manner, it is believed that nearly every student in school will "have his picture in 'The Arrow.'"

Organizations which are included are: Special students, advanced students, Senior B's, Senior C's, Dagger and Shield, Dramatic club, Off-Campus, Senior Hall, Monroe Hall, Sutton Hall, Press club, Geography group, Y. W. C. A., Y. p. Kanum, Y. M. C. A., Junior Chautauqua and Crimson Cockatoo, Camp Fire, advisory board, orchestra, glee clubs and "W" club.

Many demands for copies of "The Arrow" have been made in recent weeks but attention has been called to the fact that the required number of subscriptions has been obtained and that no more are desired. In the event that some fail to call for their copies there will be some extra copies. Students desiring to "take a chance" on getting a book are requested to give their names to Don Reed, business manager. In case books are available, they will be sold to students in the order in which application for them has been made. Merely signing one's name at this time, however, carries with it no guarantee that a book will be obtained.

Cover designs have been submitted by Mabel May and Olive Myers, and some of the art work has been done by Mildred Johnson.

Avoid Previous Mistakes

Some of the mistakes made in the publication of "Kinnikinnick," all of which resulted from inexperience, will be avoided in the preparation of "The Arrow" copy. For the subscription price of one dollar—one-third of the cost of the annual—it is believed that "The Arrow" will be as good a bargain as "Kinnikinnick."

While it is recognized that the action of the class of August, 1923, will not be binding on future classes it is believed that every graduating class of the summer quarter hereafter will continue the publication of "The Arrow" and that it will be looked forward to by the summer school students as the students of the regular year look forward to Kinnikinnick.

Will Teach in Alaska

Ruth Reuter and Erma Kemp will teach in Juneau, Alaska, the coming year. Miss Reuter was graduated from the Normal school and has taught for the past two years in Okanogan. Miss Kemp is a Senior A this quarter.

Hold Picnic at Fish Lake

Several students had a picnic at Fish lake Wednesday evening. They were: Opal Clinton, Florence Brown, Marjorie Hutchinson, Helga Johnson, Leta Rooks, Pauline Torrence, Elsie Lindberg, Mary Jane Lang, Burr Chandler, James O'Neil and Wallace Buckley.

Miss Jeannette Donaldson

Miss Jeannette Donaldson, who has been studying in Teachers' college, Columbia university, the last year, sailed for Europe Tuesday to spend the summer. She will return to the Normal school for the opening of the fall quarter.

CRABBING

A good many people in the world don't know that there is any difference between crabbing and intelligent analysis. They find fault with everything as it is and think they are progressive. It is usually noticeable that they haven't anything better to offer in place of what they are condemning. Anyone can crab about anything. It does not require thinking ability or foresight to see that a thing is not perfect. But only a clear-headed, thinking person can analyze intelligently and offer improvements over the imperfections.

An outstanding characteristic of the "crabber" is that he usually refuses his help when anything is being done and then tells how much better he could have done the thing, after it is finished. If there is some proposition to be voted upon the Crabber stands aloof and will not vote, but when the proposition has been "put over" he loudly proclaims to the world that he is against it. In short, the crabber never does anything. He spends his time fault-finding and criticizing, and his criticism is always destructive, never constructive.

It is too bad that the professional crabbers can not just for once, see themselves as they really are—not as they fondly believe, world reformers, but irritating, unimportant disturbances, too insignificant to be seriously treated.

"Y" JINKS

The social calendar discloses the information that another "Y" Jinks is to be given in the near future by the Y. W. C. A. In addition to being a pleasant social event, the "Y" Jinks gives an opportunity for each student to aid in beautifying the Y. W. C. A. room.

The Y. W. C. A. room is known to all the girls. It is used as a study hall and general rest room. Music can be had at any time. Many pleasant social times have been held there during the year, to which every student has been invited.

The present plans for beautifying the room will make it even more pleasant. It is hoped that more furniture will be bought with the proceeds from the "Y" Jinks. President Showalter has promised to duplicate the amount raised.

The Y. W. C. A. room is at the service of all students. It is used for study and pleasure. The students will do well to join President Showalter in aiding the Y. W. C. A. in their unselfish purpose and have a good time at the "Y" Jinks next Saturday night.

LOVE OF COUNTRY IS THEME OF LEGION FILM TO BE SHOWN HERE

"The Man Without a Country" will be shown in the Normal auditorium tonight, under the auspices of the Cheney post of the American Legion. This story leaps the period from the days of the world war back to the time of Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton, and shows how patriotism is aroused in two men under two sets of circumstances.

Arnold Daly in the character of Philip Nolan, is shown as a follower of Aaron Burr in the attempt to establish an independent state of Texas, for the purpose of making war on the United States. Nolan, a lieutenant in the United States army, damned the United States and expressed the wish that he should never see or hear of it again. The trial judges instructed that his wish should be his sentence. It was. And Nolan was sent aboard the Constitution, the country's most noted battleship of that age, the early 1800's. He was transferred from ship to ship, always at sea, and never allowed to see the shores of the country he had damned, nor was never allowed to hear of it.

With time came reflection. At first Nolan tried to treat his predicament as a joke. But when the gravity of it settled in his mind—with the hunger for his country, his family, his sweetheart, who had been so faithful to him and whom he had deserted for the moment for a faithless woman—he became a broken man, resigned to his fate. The officers with whom he was associated became more tolerant of him, silently pitying him.

And through a series of adventures Nolan revealed his love of country. As an instance, when the Algiers pirates attacked the Constitution, Nolan stepped into the breach and, fighting like a madman, saved the ship just as the pirates reached the powder magazine with flaming torch. He had proven then, and even before then, that he valued the honor of his country far above life. He was a patriotic patriot. He was commended by the commanding officer, worshipped by his associates; but deserving as he was of pardon they were honor bound to enforce his sentence. Not even then could they tell him what his eyes so dumbly plead for—news of his country, how it was faring.

Nolan grew to be a silent, palsied old man, a patriot among patriots, loving devotedly that which he had denied and damned—his country. On his death bed he begged to be allowed to kiss the flag, and the officers had not the heart to deny his request. This story is in the form of a flashback from modern times when a young man has to choose whether he will serve his country or not.

SALVAGE DEPARTMENT

Edited by
O. G. WHIZZ

Confined to the beaten paths of tradition, the ordinary journalist overlooks or discards much that is of vital interest to humanity. It is the purpose of the editor of this department to gather up the broken bits of news, weld them together and make them serve useful purposes. Motto: "What others discard we pick up."

Concerning Mooning

Dear Students:
(This week I am going to talk to you about the practice of "mooning." It has been brought to my attention that two young men of the school, feeling secure in their disguise, actually attempted to interrupt the dean of women, who, I am informed, was "mooning" on the campus last Saturday night. (She told me later that she was just talking to another member of the faculty, a woman, which explanation I accept).

The practice of "mooning," if not carried to extremes, is all right. In years gone by I have done such things myself, and I have a great deal of sympathy for the younger girls who are growing up and, as yet, have not learned better. But it does seem to me rather poor judgment on the part of a boy to start out on such an escapade without looking where he is leaping. I fear that he lacks the poise needed to make him successful in the field.

Hereafter I would suggest to all of the boys and girls of the school that they get permission from the dean of women to go "mooning." I am sure that she would give such permission at any time to deserving students. If such course be followed, I feel sure that there will be no complications.

Very sincerely yours,

—Dollie Deane

More Honor Troubles

Dissolution of the "Variegated Whang-Doodle," the newly-formed honor society for Normal school flunkers was imminent a few days ago when the organization was convened for the purpose of electing a faculty adviser. The only thing which saved the day was the knowledge of parliamentary law which the floor leader possessed. At the crucial moment she moved for adjournment and the motion was carried.

Soon after the meeting was called to order the names of Dr. Tiejie and Dr. Greenough were placed in nomination. Then the division took place, largely along sex lines. The women insisted on having Dr. Greenough, and the men were equally insistent upon the selection of Dr. Tiejie. After more than an hour of aimless milling, with honors about even, one girl broke the ice by declaring that she would shift her support to Dr. Tiejie.

"Tell me," she shrieked, "who has a better right to be adviser of such a group as ours than Dr. Tiejie! If it hadn't been for his assistance in the matter we might be members of Dagger and Shield. Is there a member of the faculty, man or woman, who has made so many students eligible to the 'Variegated Whang-Doodle' as he? I move that we make the selection of Dr. Tiejie unanimous."

At this juncture the floor leader moved that the meeting adjourn, and in the confusion which followed the sound of the gavel of the presiding officer was heard. Announcement of future meetings will be made exclusively in this column.

The Useful Officer

An army order advises that, where possible, mules should be used to draw machine guns. "When, however, a mule is not available, any intelligent non-commissioned officer will do instead."—London Mail.

Ike—That fellow must be studious. He always wears an eyeshade in class.
Mike—Yeah, that's to keep the sun away and give him a chance to sleep.—Mercury.

Salesman—A velvet hat, madam—what size would your husband take?
She (buying his birthday present)—Let me see—I really don't know—but he takes 16 in collars so I suppose his hat would be about 19 or 20.—London Opinion.

Economic Point of View

Student Y—A deficit is what you've got when you haven't as much as if you had nothing.—Jack o' Lantern.

Close-Mouthed

"Can't she keep them?"
"Keep them? Why, that girl tells people her right age.—Boston Transcript.

Give Minstrel Show

Miss Freeborg Goes to Stanwood

Edith Freeborg, editor of "The Arrow," will teach the seventh grade at Stanwood next year. She will also have charge of gymnasium in all the grades.

Joe Hungate Wins Honor

Joseph Hungate, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hungate of the Normal school faculty, was awarded first place in the open class at the state musical contest, held at Bellingham last week. Mr. Hungate, who is a student at the Washington State college, is a pianist of exceptional ability. He gave a short program at the Normal a short time ago.

Dean Leaves Bellingham

Miss Ekeau Woodard, dean of women in the Bellingham Normal since 1916, has severed her connection with the school and will leave on Thursday for California. She will go to San Francisco as a member of the representative council from the state of Washington.

Later Miss Woodard will return as far north as Portland, where she will attend the annual convention of the American Association of University Women.

During her seven years of service here Miss Woodard has made many warm friends, who mourn her departure, and who wish her every success in the future.—Weekly Messenger.

Sheiks and Clowns

Gather at Normal

Sheiks, sailors, clowns and what-nots were much in evidence at the Senior B party in the gymnasium last Saturday night. The "what-nots" would have taken first prize at a fashion show for their originality in design and color and the perfect misfit.

The girls (for they were these, at least a few)—well, they could best be described elsewhere than in these columns. One who was unfamiliar with the circumstances would have been confused as to whether he had run into a gypsy camp or a harem.

All those present did quite well when it came time for ice cream, for they ate it with apparent ease and little guzzling. One brick was unaccounted for at the end of the maskless party, but as yet suspicion has been fastened on no one except perhaps Webb Mitchell. (Will the guilty one please help Mitch out of his predicament?)

As the joys of the evening come after the ball the suggestion may be offered to two little boys, dressed all in white and bent on adventure, that they look before they flit with the young ladies on benches in the vicinity of Monroe Hall. Miss Spaeth will give further information to the curious as to how she likes to watch the moon come up while two venturesome lads take a hasty departure.

Those in charge of the party were Lee Elak Kirklin, Frances McFaddin, Gale Ayars, Sybil Fraser and Eulalie Brown.

Y Jinks Tomorrow

Will Be Jazzy Affair

"Three Shots at the Nigger Baby," "Trip Around the World," "Fortune Telling Tent" and a "Picture Gallery" will be booth features at the "Y" Jinks tomorrow night at 7:30. Several secret plans for attractions have been made, also.

All booths will be located in the lower rotunda and admission to each will be five cents. A charge of 15 cents will be made for the vaudeville entertainment in the auditorium. The program will include "The Willies," by the Junior Chautauqua; dance by Rowena Nance and Iris McDonald; vocal skit, Lee Elak Kirklin, Helen Honefinger and Don Reed; "Echoes from Toreador," Beulah Florida and Olive Foley. Mava Wallace has charge of the program.

MR. SHOWALTER GROUP CHAIRMAN

President of Normal School Taking Prominent Part in World Conference.

SESSIONS CLOSE TODAY

Educators of World Endeavoring to Promote Better Understanding Between Nations.

President Showalter is presiding as chairman of the international cooperation group of the world conference on education, whose sessions will close at San Francisco today. As a member of the committee on foreign relations of the National Education association, President Showalter has taken an active part in the preparation of the program for the world conference and believes that lasting good will come from this meeting, the first of its kind to be held in the world.

Objectives of the Conference

According to the announcement of the general committee, the objectives of the conference are as follows:

1. To promote friendship, justice and good will among the nations of the earth.
2. To bring about a world-wide tolerance of the rights and privileges of all nations regardless of race or creed.
3. To develop an appreciation of the value and the inherited gifts of nationality through centuries of development and progress.
4. To secure more accurate and satisfying information and more adequate statements in the textbooks used in the schools of the various countries.
5. To foster a national comradeship and confidence which will produce a more sympathetic appreciation among all nations.
6. To inculcate in the minds and hearts of the rising generation those spiritual values necessary to carry forward the principles emphasized in the conference on limitation of armaments.
7. Finally, throughout the world, in all schools to emphasize the essential unity of mankind upon the evils of war and upon the absolute necessity of universal peace.

Objectives to Be Obtained

These objectives to be secured through the following means:

1. The teaching of international civics which will acquaint the rising generation with the various points of contact made necessary and facilitated by the modern means of communication and trade.
2. By the organization of textbook material used in the schools such as will give a more accurate visualization of the dominant traits, conditions and ideals of the nations.
3. Through the exchange of teachers and through scholarships to students of foreign countries.
4. By a program looking to universal education.
5. Through an exchange of articles on education setting forth programs and methods used in the various countries and through an exchange of educational periodicals.
6. The designation of a day to be observed by all which may be known as "world good will day," upon which such programs may be given as will promote international friendship.

Results Expected

This conference is called for the purpose of working out definite objectives for education's contribution to world welfare. It will afford abundant opportunity for assembling the facts as to the educational situation in the various nations of the world and for renewing old personal friendships and forming new ones as a basis for co-operation, but its great mission will be to produce a program designed to give school authorities in all nations knowledge of ways and means by which the world's five million teachers can promote good will and understanding between persons and nations the world around. Every child in every school in every country can have its life bettered as the result of the deliberations of this world conference on education which will keep constantly uppermost the best qualities of races and nations and the contribution each has made to the moral, social and economic welfare of the world.

Should this conference recommend to the various governments that educational attaches be provided for all embassies and legations as a means to this end?

Should this conference recommend to the various governments of the world that a reasonable sum be made available for scholarships for mature graduate students of education desiring to study in foreign countries requiring of such persons special reports of desirable educational methods, movements and processes with which they may become familiar?

Should this conference take steps to form a permanent federation of educational associations and institutions, and if so, what steps now should be taken?

Is it possible and advisable to unify those elements of science in whole or in part, and if so, to what extent and how?

COMPLETE PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Mr. Kingston, Mr. Barber and
Dr. Merriman Will Discuss Various Subjects.

TO GIVE SHORT PLAYS

Lyric Glee Club and Orchestra Will Participate in the Program.—
Choose Group Colors.

Tentative programs have been arranged for the annual county superintendents' convention, to be held here July 12, by George E. Craig, in charge of the morning session, and W. E. Haeseler, in charge of the afternoon session.

J. E. Buchanan, director of the summer school, will give the address of welcome to the superintendents. The response will be given by one of the superintendents. C. S. Kingston will speak on the history of the northwest and D. A. Barber will talk on school finance. These talks will be followed by round-table discussions. The remainder of the time before noon will be spent observing in the training school and visiting classes.

"Demonstrations of Mental Tests" will be given by Dr. Curtis Merriman in the afternoon. At 3 o'clock the organizations of the school will put on a program, which will last until about 5 o'clock. The seventh period class either be dismissed or the three afternoon classes will be shortened so that all will be through by that time.

Members of Miss Vivian Turner's class in principles of the drama will assist the Dramatic club in presenting a short play, the "Trysting Place." Junior Chautauqua members, under the direction of Miss Virginia Dickinson, will give the "Rehearsal" a one-act play.

"Uncle Sam's Country Store" will be given by the Geography club. Club members not in this will appear on the campus in costumes of various countries during the afternoon and evening.

A wrestling and boxing act is being considered by the "W" club.

One number will be given by the Lyric Glee club, and a male quartet from Sutton Hall will also sing. Although it was not the original plan to have the halls represented on the program, it was decided to let Sutton Hall, being a recent addition to the campus, give a number.

Music between acts will be given by the school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Marion Lawton.

Seven county groups have selected colors as follows:

Adams, purple and gold; Lincoln pink and green; Grant and Douglas, green and gold; Okanogan, Chelan and Ferry, blue and gold; Benton, Yakima, Klickitat and Kittitas, purple and white; Montana, Oregon and Idaho, blue and white; the West and the Rest, red and white.

Mrs. Dora S. Lewis, chairman of the refreshment committee, has asked that each group hand to her the names of 10 girls and their vacant periods on Thursday to assist the committee in preparing the food. She will then make a schedule, assigning each girl to a definite piece of work at a certain period of the day.

Answers to the invitations mailed to superintendents have not been received from any others than the six whose names were published last week.

FORM SIX BALL TEAMS

Games Will Be Cut to Five Innings.—
Four Will Constitute a a Game.

The baseball league is assured. Six teams have been formed and rules and a schedule have been made out. Three games a week will be played and the standings of the teams will be worked on a percentage basis. The games will be cut to five innings instead of nine, because the men cannot get suited up soon enough to play a full game before dinner.

Beginning July 2, the following rules will be observed:

Any team not showing up at the appointed time forfeits.

Four innings will constitute a game

HOLD TRYOUTS FOR ALL-SCHOOL PLAY

"Dulcy" Will Be Given Under the Auspices of the Dramatic Club on August 10.

"Dulcy" has been selected for the all-school play, to be given under the auspices of the Dramatic club, August 10. Tryouts will be held soon.

The play was released only last year to amateurs. It was originally written for Lynn Lontanne, one of the best comedians on the stage today. It ran two years in the three eastern cities, New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

The play was written by George C. Tyler and H. H. Frazee, founded on a character created by Franklin P. Adams for the New York Herald.

The characters of the play are:

Dulcy, who deals in bromides. Her one desire in life is to make things lovely for everybody. Consequently she mixes in everything with disaster to everybody concerned. Gordon Smith, her husband, a worried young business man; William Parker, her brother who sometimes believes that his family must have adopted Dulcy; C. Roger Forbes, a financial giant; Mrs. Forbes, his second wife; Angela Forbes, the daughter; Schuyler Van Dyck, who has hallucinations; Tom Sterrett, an advertising engineer for Forbes; Vincent Leach, a scenarist whom all the ladies love; Blair Patterson, a young attorney, and Henry, an ex-thief who has been turned into a butler by Dulcy. The entire play takes place in the living room of Dulcy's suburban home.

The plot is a double one of love and money. Gordon Smith and Forbes are interested in a jewelry merger. Van Dyck becomes interested in Mrs. Forbes. William Parker, Sterrett and Leach are interested in Angela. Dulcy is interested in promoting both plots.
